Report of Board of Trustees of Trust Funds

RYE, N. H., February 2, 1926.

To the Citizens and Taxpayers of the Town of Rye:

The principal addition to the Trust Funds during the past year has been the Parsons bequest of $500.00 for the Library. In all, five new trusts have been created, making a total of 48 funds.

The principal amount of trusts for which the board holds securities now amounts to $13,658.67, of which $6,989.55 is for the benefit of the Library, $6,669.12 for Central Cemetery and $500.00 for the Seavey Cemetery at Lang's Corner.

The question may be asked, for what purposes are endowed funds most needed in Rye? This may be answered in part as follows.

In the opinion of this board, the most important immediate needs are the establishment of Perpetual Care for Central Cemetery as a whole, and more Library endowment for general purposes.

Next in importance are endowments for the beautifying of our town, the creation of public parks, the improvement and adornment of our town buildings, the planting of trees and shrubs, and the purchase of pictures and works of art.

A flagpole, with equipment, suitably located at the center of the town, would be an incentive to the development of patriotism.

Respectfully,

SHIRLEY S. PHILBRICK,
WILLARD A. TREFETHEN,
CHARLES M. REMICK,

Trustees of Trust Funds.

Report of Library Trustees.

To the Citizens of the Town of Rye:

The trustees announce with especial appreciation that a bequest of five hundred dollars ($500.00) from the estate of Dr. John Parsons is now available for the Library. This is the first unconditional gift for general purposes and, therefore, marks an important step in the financing of the Library. There are now six funds for the purchase of books, the income from which aggregates approximately two hundred and eighty-four dollars ($284.00) yearly. More than one fourth of this sum is restricted to the purchase of non-fictional literature.

There is also a small tree fund, which is being allowed to accumulate for future need.

Of these funds, the Mary Tuck Rand Memorial Fund is the only one capable of expansion, and this has been increased by the generous gift of ten dollars ($10.00) from the Every Other Tuesday Club.

Last July, the librarian issued the first of a series of semi-annual bulletins in leaflet form for the convenience of patrons, giving lists of important books of recent acquisition.

The treasurer's report shows a small surplus on hand, which, however, will be more than absorbed by the necessary purchase and installation of a new furnace. The insurance also falls due in June. The trustees, therefore, request that the town appropriate the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) to meet the expenses of the coming year.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN F. PHILBRICK.

Report of Librarian

To the Trustees of the Rye Public Library:

The following is the report of the Library for the year 1925:

Number of volumes.....	5,000
Average circulation.....	150
Largest circulation.....	233
Smallest circulation.....	49
Number of borrowers' cards.....	41
Total number of borrowers' cards.....	1108
Amount of money from fines.....	$7.58
Amount spent for supplies.....	7.00

There has been no radical change in the library work during the past year. The circulation has been of about the same average as the previous year. This is remarkable, because it is a fact that the radio has, in its ability to supply the public with both information and amusement, caused a decrease in circulation in most libraries.

Many of our readers, especially those unable to visit the library, have expressed a desire for knowing better just what books are available. As it is very unsatisfactory to have printed catalogues in a small growing library, we have tried to give aid in this way. Twice during each year bulletins of about sixty books, chosen from the many classes, will be printed. The first was issued in June and the second is soon to follow. The first three or four issues will give lists of books already in the library. The later lists, the new books, as they are added from time to time. If the public will place these bulletins on file, they will have a record of many of the books.

This year the interest money has supplied us with fiction, juvenile books and two sets, one the "Lincoln Library," an encyclopedia, especially useful to those seeking information of a concise form. It is placed on the reference table in the stack room where also may be found other helpful reference books.

The other set, "My Bookhouse," by Mrs. Miller, is a very beautiful set of books for the first seven stages of childhood. This set has only the choicest bits taken from literature, and with its splendid index ought to prove of great value to parents of young children.

Two books have been purchased from the Mary Tuck Rand Memorial Fund, namely, "The Man Nobody Knows," by Bruce Barton, and "My Education and Religion," by Dr. George A. Gordon.

It is a very easy matter to misplace things and especially easy to mingle borrowed books with books of our own, and unconsciously place all in our bookcases and forget them. Occasionally this happens to library books and I have on file in my desk records of a few books that may have met this fate. To eliminate personal notices and as a special favor I am asking the borrowers to kindly look over their books and return any belonging to the library.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN C. DRAKE,

Librarian.

Report of the School Board

To the Citizens of Rye:

The total receipts from all sources for the support of the schools for the year 1924-25 were $17,176.86. The amount expended was $16,600.79, leaving an unexpended balance of $576.07.

In accordance with a vote passed at the last School Meeting the Board installed at the Wedgewood School a "Waterbury Sanitary Caustic Closet" at a cost of $619.34.

The repairs this year consisted in painting the outside wood-work of three schools and the entire building at the West.

It is with a sense of profound sorrow that we record the death of Mrs. Annie G. Berry, president of the Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Berry had the interests of the schools much at heart and was ever ready to give such assistance as she could.

At the November meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association a committee was appointed to investigate the subject of a school and district nurse, which resulted in interesting the local Red Cross Society, which agreed to finance the project for a limited period, the Parent-Teacher Association also promising financial assistance. The School Board passed the necessary vote enabling the nurse to proceed with her work in the schools.

In tardy recognition of the generosity of Mr. Harry P. Mowe we wish, at this time, to thank him for allowing us to run a drain from the Wedgewood School basement through his land to a suitable outlet.

Report of the Superintendent

To the School Board of Rye:

I herewith submit to you my first report as superintendent of the public schools of Rye. I assumed this office on October 1, 1925, and thus have been less than four months in the work of this Union. I feel that the most that I can do in this report is to state the condition of the schools as I found them, together with the few things we have been able to do since October, and to outline some of the measures recommended for the future.

I found the pupils of Rye accommodated in four school-houses, one each at Rye Center, East Rye, South Rye and West Rye. Each of these is a primary school center in which the six elementary grades are taught in a single room. In the Rye Center building is also accommodated the Junior High School, consisting of the four grades, 7 to 10 inclusive, under three teachers, a man and two women. A special music instructor is employed for one day of each week. The eleventh and twelfth grades, better known as the Junior and Senior classes of the High School, are sent to the Portsmouth High School and their tuition is paid by the town.

Coming to the work at the close of the third week of the school year, I found the schools in each case well organized and started on their year's work.

Rye has reason to be proud of its school buildings, as all four were, and are, comfortable, well-lighted, well-heated, and sanitary. Of the seven full-time teachers all except one were teachers of experience, with an average service of nearly seven years. The average length of service of these teachers in Rye on September 1, 1925, was only slightly more than one year. We cannot receive maximum service from our teachers if 50% of them are to be changed every year. It takes at least half a school year for a teacher to become sufficiently well acquainted with the pupils of a school, with the parents of a community, and with the school customs of a district, in order to make her efforts 100% efficient. I feel that we can do much toward increasing the efficiency of our schools if we endeavor to retain as long as possible the services of worthy, capable teachers. The attractiveness of a school position does not depend upon the salary alone, although this is, of course, one of the leading factors. A comfortable and attractive school building, well-cared for and well-supplied with suitable books and equipment, will tend to retain the services of a good teacher. The character and ability of the pupils and their proper training at home is also an attraction to a teacher. The attitude of the parents of a community with regard to criticism of, and co-operation with, the school is a great factor in creating in the teacher a desire to remain. The possibility of securing a suitable boarding place and of entering the social life of the community is many times a deciding factor in the permanency of the teacher's service. The attractiveness of the community and of the surrounding country as well as the location and accessibility of the town with respect to a large city is always an inducement to teachers. In this respect few towns can surpass Rye with its proximity to Portsmouth, its attractive homes, its beautiful woods and fields and its wonderful coast line.

I am glad for the active Parent-Teacher Association in the town. I believe that this can be and in this case is a strong influence to increase the efficiency of our schools.

The most significant advance, it seems to me in my short term of service, has been the employment for one day of each week of a school nurse. Through the generosity and public spirit of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, a way has been opened to finance this enterprise for at least the remainder of the school year. I am confident that the parents of Rye will, by their co-operation, enable the nurse so to demonstrate the value of her work that the town will be willing to assume the burden in the near future, if not at once. A mid-morning lunch service of milk and crackers has been instituted by the teacher of the Wedgewood primary school, and is proving very successful.

An intelligence examination has been given to all the pupils of the Junior High School. This enables us to ascertain, at least approximately, the mental ability of each pupil and each class. Thus the teacher knows the children better and can better fit the difficulty of the work to the needs and capacities of the pupils.

Spelling textbooks have been furnished to the pupils of grades three to six, inclusive. I believe that this will economize the time of both teacher and pupils and will enable the latter to progress more satisfactorily in this important school subject.

Monthly bulletins have been issued to the teachers and two teachers' meetings have been held to discuss ways of improving the service of the schools.

In an attempt to improve the attendance and punctuality of the pupils a weekly comparison of the attendance and punctuality of the 32 schools and seven districts in the Union is being issued from the office. For the seven weeks ending January 8, 1926, in attendance among the seven districts Rye has ranked second for five weeks, third for one week, fourth for one week and fifth for one week.

As to the needs of the schools, the Junior High School needs more equipment for domestic arts, manual training and science, and a school library for reference in history, English, etc. The coat-room facilities at the Wedgewood or Center School are inadequate. A telephone at the Wedgewood School would add to its efficiency.

I would call your attention to the size of the enrollment of the primary schools, especially that of the Wedgewood. Few teachers can do satisfactory work with six grades to one teacher, if the enrollment runs over 35.

The enrollment of the Junior High School had increased

20 per cent. over that of last year and has about reached the stage when an extra teacher will be needed or the tenth grade sent to the Portsmouth High School. The relief of the primary School or the addition of an extra teacher at the Junior High School would mean an extra room at the Center School. If this should be provided for the Primary School it would be advisable to bring to the Center School the sixth grades and possibly the fifth grades of the three out-lying schools. Thus these teachers would have more time to spend with the lower grades and thereby the efficiency of all the primary schools would be increased.

Meanwhile, it seems to me that our most pressing duty to the schools of Rye is to eliminate all of the waste possible in our schools and bring them to a higher degree of efficiency.

We can do this in several ways:

First.—By building up the attendance of the pupils. Much of the absence in our schools is due to preventable sickness. We expect to get much help from the school nurse in eliminating this.

Second.—We must continue to supply our schools with the best text-books and the best helps and equipment to aid the teachers in their work.

Third.—The teachers ought to be encouraged to use the most efficient methods of instruction.

Fourth.—We must bring to pass as perfect co-operation as possible between the parents and the schools. The Parent-Teacher Association should be of great assistance in this.

Fifth.—We should encourage our teachers to take still further training for their work.

The citizens of Rye are to be congratulated for the interest which you as a committee have shown in improving the schools.

Soliciting your hearty co-operation and that of the parents and citizens in general in the work for the betterment of our schools and through them of the town, I submit this report.

CHARLES N. PERKINS,

Superintendent.
